

Client Policy and User Guide

Adopted Board of Directors
2016
Resolution 2016/10/27-5

1. Policy Objectives

TransporAction Pontiac, hereinafter referred to as TAP, is a non-profit organization mandated by the MRC Pontiac to provide paratransit and collective transportation on the MRC's territory. TAP objectives are to organize, provide, and maintain a rural paratransit and collective transportation service within the territory of the Pontiac MRC by fostering the mobility of its rural citizens and the sustainable development of its communities.

Transportation services are provided mainly by means of established minibus routes and by volunteer drivers.

This present policy has been prepared by TAP and replaces any previous policy incompatible with this present policy.

2. General Provisions

TAP recognizes the value and the importance of providing a quality service to the citizens of the MRC municipalities. To ensure offering optimal services and making the organization more and more effective and efficient, TAP has set this present policy applicable to the client/users of TAP transportation services.

Paratransit transport for the disabled served by TAP is a transportation service for persons who have been admitted according to the criteria contained in the Quebec department of Transport policy regarding paratransit transport.

Collective transport is a transportation service other than paratransit transport that is available to MRC citizens in accordance with needs and available resources.

TAP is subject to several laws, regulations, policies, and programs. This policy meets such requirements but in the event of divergence, the laws, regulations, policies and programs shall prevail.

3. Prerequisites

To be eligible for TAP services, the individual (client/user) must first complete the TAP information sheet and deliver any document required. The user must notify TAP of any change in his/her situation or physical condition that could affect eligibility.

At any time when requested, the client must provide to TAP with any document and information as required.

4. Dispatch and Transport Bookings

TAP is responsible for the dispatching and assignment of transport. The client may not request a different dispatch than that assigned by TAP.

Pairing shall be applied as effectively as possible, and the fees paid by the user remain the same. Clients may not request a pairing.

Users must reserve transportation 48 business hours prior the transportation event.

A requested transportation for Monday must be booked on or before the preceding Thursday before 4 p.m.

All reservations must be made by phone Monday to Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Cancellation of a request for transportation must be made 24 hours ahead of time and the user must follow the above procedures in case of cancellation, otherwise fees will be charged.

When booking, the user must include all information necessary to perform the service including full name, date of required transport, exact addresses of departure and destination, time of arrival at destination, estimated duration of appointment if possible, use of a wheelchair, scooter, or other forms of aid or orthotic, and the presence authorized or unauthorized escort.

Users must always contact the TAP dispatch service to reserve or cancel transport. No transportation can be booked directly with the driver, the cancellation of a transport must be done directly with TAP and, if possible, with the driver.

No confirmation call is required for regular paratransit travel. Regular travel is a recurring trip, one that is made at least once a week, at a set time, with the same points of origin and destination, and for a minimum period of 3 months.

Notwithstanding the preceding, a user must notify, at least 24 hours in advance of any cancellation or modification of the scheduled regular travel, failing which, a fee will be charged.

On a holiday, regular travel is automatically cancelled unless TAP advises otherwise.

The client must call for each public transport required unless the transport is using residual paratransit spaces; in such case, no confirmation call is necessary for this regular transport.

9. Paratransit – Types of Admission

For the paratransit component, the types of admission issued by the Admissions Committee are as follows:

- a) Permanent admission (unlimited period), which is generally granted when the Committee can envisage only the use of paratransit for trips, even with apprenticeship or familiarization;
- b) Temporary provisional admission (between 6 and 18 months), which is generally granted when the Admission Committee is unable to grant permanent admission status because it is awaiting the results of a program for rehabilitation, mobility orientation, or learning to use means of transportation other than paratransit;

On the expiry date of the temporary licence, the Committee will review the file based on the assessment of the user's abilities and will grant a permanent, temporary, seasonal, or partial admission or refuse admission;

- c) Seasonal admission, which is generally granted when the user can use the paratransit transport during the winter only (December 1st to April 30th) because the limitations encountered during the rest of the years do not justify paratransit use.
- d) Partial admission, which is generally granted when a person is unable to make specific trips;

Individuals with disabilities who are admitted to special transport services in their respective regions and who reside or temporarily visit the territory served by TAP can benefit from the local paratransit service with their admission card issued by the carrier on their territory and, depending on the availability of service, by meeting the obligations of this present policy.
